Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement filed January 27, 2004 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(1), which requires the following: (1) a list of all patents, publications, applications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office; (2) U.S. patents and U.S. patent application publications listed in a section separately from citations of other documents; (3) the application number of the application in which the information disclosure statement is being submitted on each page of the list; (4) a column that provides a blank space next to each document to be considered, for the examiner's initials; and (5) a heading that clearly indicates that the list is an information disclosure statement.

While the transmittal letter notes that an IDS was filed with the application, no cover letter or PTO-1449 has been submitted, so it is not clear if the WO 01/02196 document submitted is intended to be part of a prior art citation.

The document has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Specification

2. The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter.

The term "seal support member" of claim 13 cannot be found in the specification.

See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In each of the independent claims the preamble sets forth a tire inflation system is claimed either for a wheel end assembly, for a drive axle, or for a portal drive axle. However, the structure of the drive axle and wheel and assembly is claimed in combination with the tire inflation system, making it indefinite as to whether the combination or one of the subcombinations are being claimed. It is suggested that the word "for" be changed to - -and- - in the preamble of each of the independent claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1, 10, and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Japanese document 52-41327.

As shown in figure 1, the drive axle 7 is coupled to the wheel hub for rotation and includes a bore 8 in communication with a source of air. A seal assembly 10 is provided at the first end of the drive axle.

With respect to claim 16, a second drive axle (unlabelled) extends in the direction opposite the first drive axle 7, has a second set of gears, and ends in a broken line.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

9. Claims 17 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese document 52-41327.

For the wheel axis to be higher than the axle axis, and for the one of the first and second shafts to be longer than the other would have been obvious as design expedients based upon the type of vehicle the tire inflation system was used on.

Allowable Subject Matter

10. Claims 2-9, 19, and 20 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

11. Claims 11-15 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The references show drive axles and tire inflation systems.
